

I want to include more photos of my trip to the Serengeti with Fr. Daniel Hinc, C.R. on Thursday, September 12. I reported on hippopotami, giraffes, zebras, ostriches, wildebeests, and crocodiles in Blog No. 14. Someone asked if that was a real crocodile in the photo...the answer is “YES!” and he looked hungry!

I think he looks about “this big” said a noted biologist who was traversing the Serengeti in East Africa! I think the noted biologist should get back in the vehicle.

We saw some hyenas, which are not always easy to find.

We also saw about 4 or 5 groups of elephants. This big guy was on his own, but there were also herds and families of elephants.

And, of course, we also saw several prides of lions...mostly they were resting, except for the cubs who were trying to climb and to annoy their mother.

Some lions just want to get away from the crowd and grab some slumber time!

Others like the warmth of the rocks as they wait out the daytime hours.

We also saw many baboons throughout the day in the Serengeti.

In addition to the animals, the landscapes were just breathtakingly beautiful!!!!

At the end of the day—at least with the animals—you wonder who is looking at whom?
